Following the religious education report money offerings amounting to over $100 were accepted and set aside to be applied on a Baptist college in Illinois if and when it shall come to pass.

2 SIU Students Killed When Plane Crashes

Collinsville Youths Are Freshman And Sophomore

COULTERVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Two Southern Illinois University students from Collinsville were killed Friday when a two-place plane crashed and exploded on a landing strip near Coulterville.

State police identified the victims as Jerry Arthur Adams, 18, of 739 Lake St., the owner and pilot of the plane, and 19-year-old John Sullivan of 740 Bond Ave.

The plane crashed about 5 p. m. on the James Jennings landing strip, a mile northeast of Coulterville in Perry County.

Witnesses to the crash were two other SIU students, 18-year-old Barbara M. Liebig, Mascoutah and James F. Chapman, 17, Collinsville. Both had been taken for rides by Adams before he took Sullivan up.

The two witnesses told State Patrolman Wayne Pyle and Perry County Coroner John H. Gaetz that Adams had brought the plane to the landing strip last weekend.

Friday, the four drove from Carbondale to the landing strip and Adams took each of them for a ride. He had planned to fly the plane to Collinsville, with the others going on in Sullivan's car.

Miss Liebig and Chapman said the plane stalled during the landing approach and plunged to the ground from 250 feet.

Fire destroyed all the plane except parts that were scattered by the crash. Authorities say Adams and Sullivan were burned in the wreckage.

Adams was a freshman and Sullivan a sophomore at the university.

Sen. Jones Addresses Historical Society on Promotion of Area

The Saline County Historical society held its regular meeting Oct. 2 in the lower rooms of the Harrisburg public library. An interested group was present to hear the report on the proposed museum and an address by Senator Glen O. Jones.

President Louis Aaron introduced Philip Kane of Harrisburg who sang "All the Things You Are" and "I Walked With God," accompanied by Miss Michal Foster at the piano.

The society's certificate which has been presented to the Rev. Bernie Smith was displayed to the group. Mr. Aaron stated that Rev. Smith's contribution of historical material was now on display in the cases used by the society at the library.

State Meeting Oct. 12-13

Announcement was made of the State Historical society meeting to be held at Chicago Oct. 12-13. The Southern Illinois meeting will be held in Carbondale Oct. 19 on the college campus. A cafeteria dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. preceded by an hour's tour. The new library will be visited after dinner and John Clifford, social science librarian, will address the group. Also announced was the coming of the Perry County Historical society to Harrisburg Sunday, Oct. 28, at 2 p. m. All members are urged to meet with this group at the library and welcome them to this area.

Judge D. F. Rumsey gave a report on the proposed museum. The committee had considered three sites, but had not made a decision to buy or erect an entire ly new smaller building. Interest in the museum is growing and the coming months may bring about tangible results.

Address by Sen. Jones

John Foster introduced Senator Glen Jones who spoke on "Promotion of Historic and Scenic Beauties of Southern Illinois." He mentioned the rich history of southern Illinois, citing two examples—Gen. George Rogers Clark of Revolutionary War fame and Gen. U. S. Grant, the famed Civil War general and ex-president. Clark, with a courageous group of ragged, ill-fed volunteers, waged the farthest west campaigns of the Revolutionary War at Forts Massac, Kaskaskia and Vincennes, and secured the Northwest Territory of which Illinois was a part, for the thirteen colonies. This alone was an achievement of first importance, Sen. Jones stated. Also, Grant became a general while serving in the Union Army at Cairo, Ill., during the Civil War. His services, both south and north of the Ohio River, were invaluable in winning this area for the Union cause.

Must Be Tourist Conscious

The Ohio River, he added, is one of the nation's most beautiful and it has had much of the nation's history written on its banks and much of that has been written in southern Illinois. He stated that Shawneetown is one of southern Illinois' greatest assets historically and scenically.

The society, he commended, is now monetarily interested in pro-

Father of Kidnaped Baby Admits Deserting Another Woman, 4 Children

CHICAGO (UP)—Shortly after one-month old Ronald Bucher was returned to his parents after being kidnaped, his father admitted that he had deserted another woman and four children.

Thomas Paterimos, 29, confessed Friday he had been living with Ronald's mother, Lois, 21, under the name of Bucher after he was confronted by his legal wife, Mrs. Jean Paterimos, 27.

A 25-year old woman who wanted a child, was reported to have been charged with kidnaping in a grand jury true bill. Mrs. Gladys Bynum touched off a 15-hour search after she smuggled little Donald from his mother's home.

Mrs. Bynum said she was so anxious to have a child she padded her dress with extra clothing to appear pregnant Thursday, when she set out to find a child.

She became acquainted with Mrs. Bucher, was invited into her home, and snatched the child the moment his mother left the room. She explained the child's presence to her husband by saying she had given birth to the infant while he was at work.

"I don't know anything about babies," her husband, Charles, said.

"I thought she was pregnant and when I saw the baby I thought it was the real McCoy."

Mrs. Bynum was taken into custody, sobbing "I wanted a baby of my own and couldn't have one."

The abductress had gained entrance to the Bucher residence by complaining that her "pregnancy" was making her ill. After a prolonged chat, she persuaded Mrs. Bucher to go to a nearby store to call a taxi for her. Mrs. Bucher returned to find the woman and Ronald missing.

She put her arm around the kidnaper and forgave her when Ronald was returned to her.

Mrs. Bucher was caring for Ronald at a sister's home while Mrs. Paterimos pointed out her husband at a police station. He admitted leaving her two years ago, and was then placed in custody by police.

Alabama Draft Board Quits Over Deferment

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—One of seven Alabama draft board officials whose resignations over a controversial deferment have been turned down said today, "I've quit."

Like the other six officials before him, Alton L. Turner, Luverne, Ala., resigned in protest against top-level deferment of a Negro integrationist only to be told his resignation was not accepted.

National Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said the men are vital to the Selective Service System, but Turner, appeal agent of the Crenshaw County Draft Board, said the matter was purely "academic" because he had already quit.

Hershey caused a furor among draft officials in the state by ordering an indefinite postponement of the induction of Fred Gray, Negro attorney and part-time minister, until new evidence could be studied.

A local board had ordered Gray's induction, charging he was spending less than half his time in the ministry. The board was accused of taking this action because of Gray's part in integration suits.

The board in turn accused Hershey of yielding to pressure by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Only $875 Reported In Salvation Army Drive

The Salvation Army campaign for funds, an annual event, had brought in only $875.65 this morning, the day the campaign was scheduled to close, Lt. Mildred Wallace reported.

Yesterday the campaign was extended for another week in an effort to come close to the goal of $5000. Last year the goal was set.

Yale Students Boo Adlai, Cheer for Ike; Stevenson Victim of Tomato Throwing

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson hit the road to bid for New England votes today on the heels of the first reported tomato throwing incident of his 1956 campaign.

The Democratic presidential candidate mapped a motorcade through Rhode Island and Massachusetts after a one-night stand in Connecticut which almost turned into a giant "We Like Ike" demonstration.

Stevenson opened his current New England swing Friday night by taking a train from New York to New Haven, Conn., where he delivered a speech at Yale University.

Chants of "We Like Ike" greeted the candidate when his motorcade reached the campus. There were boos and cries of "Go back to Princeton," a reference to Stevenson's alma mater and Yale's bitter rival.

After he spoke to a sympathetic audience of more than 2,800 in Woolsey Hall, Stevenson walked out to the steps of the hall to talk to the crowd of several thousand chanting students and townspeople.

"Surely students at Yale don't need a lesson in manners from a Princetonian," Stevenson told the crowd.

There were a few cheers, but more boos.

Recalls Russian Visit
After several attempts at talking, Stevenson finally got silence with an appeal that the crowd quiet down. He then recalled that 30 years ago Friday night, he was in Russia, and he had vivid impressions of his visit.

"One of the things I remember most acutely was that there were no public meetings like this," he said. "Good night."

Then he pushed through the crowd to his car and drove to the airport to fly to Providence where he scheduled a city hall plaza rally today.

During the Yale melee, it was reported that a tomato thrown

277 Employees in Auditor's Office Get Pay Raises

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Some 277 employees in the state auditor's office have been given pay raises averaging $34 a month and totaling $9,606 a month for all the employees.

The office of Auditor Lloyd Morey announced the raises Friday and said they were possible because of the dismissal of 99 employees from "unnecessary" jobs held under former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The auditor's office announced last week that some of its accounts were so depleted by Hodge's embezzlement that it might not be able to pay all its bills in the next few months.

But the personal services or payroll fund is in "good shape," Morey's office said. Staff reductions effected by Morey when he took over the office resulted in a payroll saving of about $19,000 a month.

Dr. Henry Gerald to Address Southern Illinois Dinner Club Saturday, Oct. 13

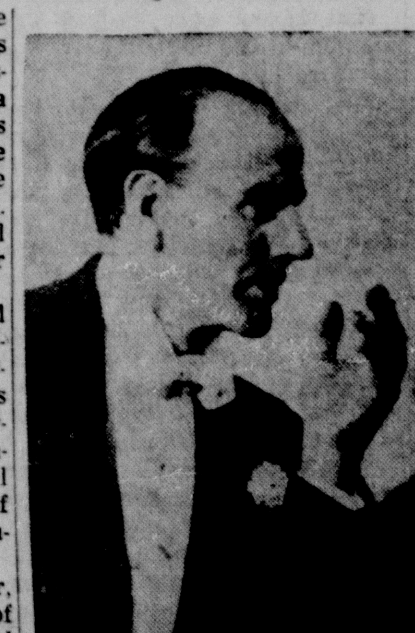

Dr. Henry Gerald, called the "Wizard from Denmark," who has uncanny mental abilities, will discuss "Psychology in Action," at a meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club Saturday, Oct. 13. The dinner meeting will be held at the Kurtz Country club at 6:30 p. m. and will be the first of the fall and winter series by the Dinner club.

The program by Dr. Gerald will offer experiments in mental telepathy, psychology and clairvoyance. His performance is a series of things unexplainable, unbelievable, fascinating and even educational in a sense, for they deal with that growing profession of psychology which is becoming increasingly important.

He is not a "trick" entertainer, but an expert in the field of thought transference and practical psychology.

Sebe Kelly of Eldorado, president of the club, will be in charge of this meeting, first of this season. Members are asked to make advance reservations with Rees Turner, club secretary.

The speaker for the November meeting, the date for which has not yet been set, will be an authority on the Suez canal, and will be especially interesting because of the Suez crisis.

Sentencing is Tentatively Set for Tuesday

Conviction Ends 9-Weeks Trial; 21 Days to Appeal

BOSTON (UP)—Eight men, described as "potential murderers," were convicted early today of the million-dollar robbery at Brink's Inc. six years ago.

A Suffolk County jury deliberated three hours and 40 minutes before convicting Joseph McGinnis, Anthony Pino, Vincet J. Costa, Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, Michael V. Geagan, James I. Faherty, Thomas F. Richardson and Henry Baker.

Superior Judge Felix Forte set Tuesday as tentative date for sentencing for the middle-aged men who participated in the greatest cash robbery in the nation's history. They could receive life sentences.

McGinnis, fleshy, pink-faced hoodlum who engineered the armed assault on Brink's was convicted of 36 counts on 11 indictments charging conspiracy, receiving stolen goods and being an accessory.

Other Varied Charges

Charges against the other defendants included armed robbery, burglary and conspiracy.

The verdicts rolled out over the packed courtroom like steady beats from a drum. In answer to the recital of crimes, jury foreman Thomas P. Donahue sounded a monotonous succession of "guilts."

The defendants sat hypnotized. Pino, his thick neck taut, craned his head toward the jury in apparent disbelief.

McGinnis' wife, Marjorie, gave a sharp cry as the verdicts were handed down. She had to be supported from the courtroom and then fainted near the exit.

Other defendants' wives wept quietly while streams of court officials rushed to congratulate prosecution attorneys.

Mrs. Mary Pino, a large shapeless woman, sunk her head in the huge folds of a black dress. She shook her head and cried "Tony, Tony."

The case, longest criminal trial in Massachusetts court history, went to the jury at 10:05 p. m. (EDT) Friday. Verdicts were returned at 1:45 a. m. (EDT).

Nine Week Trial

The conviction ended nine weeks of trial with 4,800 pages of transcript and more than a million words of testimony.

Jurors returned to the courtroom with set, determined faces. They strode, single file, to their places with the look of men with a purpose.

After the verdicts were handed down, chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith, who for 44 days has carried the burden of defense argument, immediately moved for a poll of jurors on the indictment of armed robbery. The motion was denied.

The defense now has 21 days in which to file appeal. Smith, who from the trial's outset has contended that inflammatory publicity has made a fair hearing impossible, said he would continue to fight.

"I have no intention of stopping here," he said. "I will certainly file an appeal."

Son-In-Law of J. R. Partains Injured

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Partain, 325 East McIlraith, were called to Cape Girardeau, Mo., to the St. Francis hospital to be with their son-in-law, Robert Nation, who was seriously injured in an auto accident Wednesday evening.

The Nations have two children, Bobbie, 12, and Carolyn, 9.

Cut McKeon Sentence

Navy Secretary Thomas Overrules Discharge by Court Martial

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (UP)—S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, his "death march" sentence reduced so he can stay in the Marine Corps, today renewed plans for a full leatherneck career.

Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas late Friday ordered McKeon demoted to private but overruled a bad conduct discharge a court martial board handed him for the march that killed six recruits.

The 31-year-old, one-time drill sergeant said he believes this will enable him to get his sergeant's stripes back some day so he can command troops again.

"Until then," McKeon told the United Press, "I'll try to be the best private in the Marine Corps. I definitely plan to make the Marine Corps my career."

Thomas also reduced McKeon's hard-labor sentence from nine to three months and abolished a $30 monthly pay forfeiture, saying the reduction in rate would incur a greater pay loss than this.

Thomas said he believes the "real punishment" will be the "memory of those youngsters" who drowned in an unauthorized night march into a tidal creek at this boot training camp last April 8.

Says Time Heals All Wounds

McKeon has repeatedly expressed the same view, but he said he believes that, by making a good record from now on, as he had before the tragedy, the bar to advancement will be removed. "Time heals all kinds of wounds," McKeon said. "I hope that time will heal this wound, and I can eventually—some day—be another staffer."

McKeon said he would make no attempt to appeal the sentence as it now stands because his main ambition was to remain in service.

McKeon now is awaiting arrival of the decree through official channels, which will mean a trip to the Parris Island brig for a stay of about four weeks to serve out his hard-labor sentence.

Informed Friday that the decision was about to be announced, McKeon ribbed a newspaperman by saying, "It would come right in the middle of the World Series!"

McKeon, since the court martial verdict, has been living under a restriction which permitted him to continue living at his home at Port Royal, S. C., near the base, with his wife and three small children.

Just One Big Brink

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Len Hall knew Ike would be Goaded into Campaigning; Doctors Told Ike He Could Increase Campaign Tempo;
Some Of Ike's Future Speeches
Are Kept Carefully Guarded Secret.

WASHINGTON. — Republican campaign strategy is working out beautifully and exactly as the astute Len Hall planned it.

Hall, son of Teddy Roosevelt's coachman at Oyster Bay, got his start in the variegated school of Long Island politics which includes a well-rounded course in human relations.

Hall figured that when the Democrats started pouring the heat on Eisenhower, Ike would react like every other human being and pour it back. There was official talk that the President would make only a few TV speeches from the White House. But Len Hall knew better.

He didn't make too many plans in advance, kept his strategy completely fluid. For he knew:
1. that Eisenhower wouldn't give him the green light to campaign until the campaign got hot; 2. that he would know later where his weak spots would be and could arrange Ike's speaking itinerary then.

He's working out exactly that way.
Today Ike needs no urging.
When Stevenson applies the acetylene torch of his acid language to the presidential prestige, Ike is the one who is rarin' to go to defend it. The nation may not know it, but White House intim-ates do know that his temper is close to the surface. He has a low boiling point. Adlai has touched off that boiling point and Len Hall is delighted.

DOCTORS GAVE OK

There is just one great risk Len Hall is taking — presidential exhaustion. However, Hall's strategy has worked so well that he's prepared to risk it.

Besides Hall is careful to play his cards so close to his chest that no one outside two or three people in the White House know exactly what speeches will be made beyond those already announced.
This is precaution against a cold or digestive trouble. If the President should get tired or develop a cold, then there's won't be any cancellations—simply because the program won't be set up too far in advance.

Hall knows what such a cancellation would do. The election would go into a tailspin.
The doctors have gone along with these stepped-up plans, reluctantly at first, but they have gone along. One reason they gave their okay was because Ike was chafing, straining at the leash, wanting to get out and answer his critics. Also they saw what excitement he got from the enthusiasm of the crowds during his speeches at Des Moines and Newton, Ia. So they figure the tonic of the crowds will do him good.

Some of the schedules, however, are exhausting. When much younger newsmen who had accompanied the President on his trip to Cleveland and Lexington, Ky., returned to Washington they were worn out. They got home about 2:30 a. m. The President, flying in his private plane, got home about 12:30 midnight. However, he had delivered two speeches, had stood up for long periods receiving the cheers of the crowd.

The President sits down at eyery possible opportunity. The bubble top on his car is closed except on the outskirts of a town, at which point his party stops, lowers the top, and he stands up to wave at the crowds. Despite all the energy-saving respite, the schedule is tough and the work would be a drain on any man, even one under 66.

Newsman accompanying Eisenhower recall traveling with Franklin Roosevelt in 1944 on similar exhausting trips. In Philadelphia it was raining. But FDR was out in an open car taking salutes.
Newsman huddling inside dry limousines were tired. They were out of the rain and had hot coffee. FDR was out in the wet.

Remarkable Speck Trussell, veteran of the New York Times:
"He won't have a cold tomorrow. But two or three months from now, this terrific drain on his energy will catch up with him."

HARRY TRUMAN'S CROW

An untold story of Harry Truman's bellicose, belligerent mood after the Chicago convention has just leaked out. He was so irked at the victory of the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket over his friend Governor Harriman that he threatened privately not to endorse the ticket. He even considered going to Australia and the South Seas during the campaign.

This caused near pandemonium in the Democratic camp. Some of the Stevenson people immediately got in touch with the man they consider closest to Truman—his former secretary of state, Dean Acheson. They begged Acheson to call "the old man" in Independence, Mo.

Acheson did so. And his opening salutation over the telephone was carefully geared to bring the ex-President out of his bitter mood.

"Mr. President," said Acheson,
"the menu for today is crow!"

POLITICO-GO-ROUND

Best diagnosis of Len Hall's earlier political strategy was published in Look magazine, owned by Ike's good friend Mike Cowles.

"Hall had not the slightest hope Ike would ever run again," wrote Fletcher Knebel, referring to the period right after the heart attack. "He decided on a huge bluff. He boldly told incredulous newsmen there had been no change. . . . Some people wondered if Len Hall had gone off his rocker. . . . Gradually he erected a psychological framework, and finally Ike came to believe it was quite natural that a man who had a heart attack should run for President."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has coined a new safety slogan. "Drive carefully," he says. "The life you save may vote Republican." He meant to be funny, but some people haven't taken it that way. . . .
For the first time, conservationists have gotten into presidential politics. Calling themselves "Conservationists for Stevenson," they are mailing out 50,000 letters to hunters, fishermen, and wildlife lovers, urging that they renounce the conservation policies of the Eisenhower administration, especially those of generous Doug McKay. About half the 30 sponsors are Republicans, including Rachel Carson, author of "The Sea Around Us."

Whew!
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — The Atomic Energy Commission announced it will accept bids Oct. 16 on 500 pounds of polymonoethylotrifluoroethylene resin. The AEC prefers the kind that doesn't bubble.

THIS WOKE HIM UP—Sir Laurence Olivier as "The Sleeping Prince" receives his first screen kiss from Marilyn Monroe on the movie's set in London, England. Reports from the studio state that perfectionist Olivier had this sequence shot over and over, all day long, to get the kiss on film perfectly. Anyhow, that's the official version of the day-long smooch. The sound man lowered the boom on this picture of the kiss and his microphone obscures a portion of Olivier's face.

Illinois Korean Veterans Bonus Commission to Make Report Soon

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Renewed activity in favor of a bonus for Illinois veterans of the Korean War is slated for this month. Drafting of a report for the Illinois (Koreans) Veterans Compensation Commission is now in process and goes to commission members late this month with the time table calling for the commission vote it up or down some time next month.

The report, being drafted by Homer Bradney, Jacksonville, a member of the commission is expected to follow the lines suggested in a commission proposal submitted to Gov. William G. Stratton in July but turned down by the Governor on the ground that it failed to meet conditions he had set up for it if it were to be taken up at a special session of the General Assembly.

The bonus plan recommended to Stratton called for an approximate $75 million bond issue to finance $10-a-month payments to Illinoisans on duty from June 27, 1950 to July 27, 1953, regardless of whether their service was in the states or overseas. It also called for an additional $100 for those who served in Korea or went overseas with a death benefit of $1,000.

See Legislative Approval
State Sen. Paul Broyles, R., Mt. Vernon, commission chairman, and State Rep. Clyde Choate, D., Anna, told Stratton the bond issue would be financed from utility tax receipts and be retireable in 20 years. He estimated 295,000 veterans would get the additional $100 for overseas with the death benefit going to dependents of 3,000 veterans.

A survey of holdover state senators in the odd-number districts and prospective members of the Illinois House and senators from even-numbered districts in the 70th General Assembly, reveal some kind of a bonus plan will probably sail through the next legislature and be subject to a statewide referendum in November of 1958.

Representative Paul Powell whose primary nomination gave him a "pass" through the November 6 election said he favors the bonus proposal sponsored in the 69th session by the VFW but vetoed by Stratton; Rep. Gordon Kerr, Brookport, said he too would vote for the VFW bonus plan for which he was one of the co-sponsors in 1955.

Senator Jones: "I am for the bonus on the basis set forth in the bill I sponsored at the last session" (Jones sponsored a proposal calling for $10 a month payment for domestic service and $15 for overseas service); Warren D. Crippin, Cisse, Democrat nominee in the 46th senate district: "I am for a bonus—but not in the form of a dole—payable from the general revenue fund."

某人之鄰里

Somebody's Neighbor

He probably doesn't look much like the man next door. He does his arithmetic with the aid of a centuries-old gadget called the abacus, and he writes the results in characters that would be quite undecipherable to you... yet you probably have far more in common with him than you'd ever dream.

Like you, he wants peace. Like you, he wants a good future for his children, and he wants them to have more than he has had. Like you, he has experienced happiness and sorrow, love and disillusionment. Like you, he prays.

On World Wide Communion Sunday, he will be going to church and, though this may seem a bit odd to you, he will be praying for you. Yes... for you, and for everyone else in the world, friend or enemy.

Why not join him? Why not, on World Wide Communion Sunday, go to your own church and include him... him and everyone else... in your prayers.

Pray for peace, too. Remember, the power of prayer is a wonderful thing... especially when it is given many voices.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Creation Story'

Genesis 1:1-15; 9:12; 26:31
By Dr. Archie E. Brown
GOLDEN TEXT: "And God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good." (Genesis 1:31)

INTRODUCTION: There are some passages of scripture that have become familiar to Bible students. Many of these can be quoted from memory. For the next three months we are going to have a spiritual feast. Why? Because each Sunday school lesson is going to be based upon some familiar and favorite scripture passage.

It is natural for us to begin with the first book in the Bible. Here we find the creation story. People everywhere need to realize that it is God who has created the world and everything in it. The tragedy is that too many people are involved in trying to conquer the world, which is an impossible task. "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof, and all they that dwell therein." The Psalmist tells us this fundamental truth.

I GOD CREATED HEAVEN AND EARTH (V. 1-5; 9:12)

My college professor in science said to his class one day: "Some textbooks and some few scientists will try to explain away the creation of the heavens, earth and man. As for me, I accept as truth Genesis 1:1." I always admired that science teacher a little more after that.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." The outstanding men in the field of science today accept this as truth. The Genesis account of the story of the creation of earth is one thing they accept as fact without experiment. This is faith!

II GOD CREATED MAN IN HIS OWN IMAGE (V. 26-28)

Here is a statement by God that ought to thrill every heart: "God created man in His own image." This means that in the beginning man was spiritually and morally like God.

Man has fallen into sin. Man has deliberately chosen to sin. Therefore, spiritually and morally he has marred his soul by his own deliberate actions. However, no matter how far from God sin has driven a person, he still has the spark of God in his soul. The worst person you know still has some of the image of God on his soul. This means that as long as he has breath of life, there is hope that he will turn to God with a desire to become more like Him. God gave man dominion over every living thing. He gave man the ability and power to develop His creation. Every discovery by men of science is just another miracle that God permits to be uncovered. Atomic energy has been in the world since God created it. He just waited until the time was right on His own calendar before permitting man to uncover the mysteries of atomic power.

Additional Church Notes on Page Three

CONCLUSION — EVERYTHING MADE GOOD (V. 31). "And God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good." Yes, God a perfect work in all creation. Perfect harmony is to be found even in the minutest detail. Man gets proud and haughty once in a while over his discoveries. What man needs to remember is that he only discovers what God permits.

Rats and Mice Look For Warm Homes In Winter

Each rat like this one damages $20 worth of farm and home property every year. You can prevent this extra expense by killing rats and mice with warfarin. Photo by Edward Hutton, USDA Extension Service.

Along about this time of year destructive rats and mice start looking for a place to "winter" in farm and home buildings, where they reproduce rapidly.

According to agricultural leaders, you can stop these disease-spreading pests by taking a few simple precautions and preparing a death-dealing welcome.

Pest control specialists say you should put out the recently developed rat and mouse baits such as warfarin, clean up these places rodents like, and make buildings rodent-proof where you can.

Warfarin was developed several years ago by scientists at the University of Wisconsin. It's a revolutionary type of rodent-killing bait is recommended for all kinds of rats and mice in this country.

The bait is a slow-but-sure killer—rodents never get shy of it, never become resistant to it, and they come back for more, which eventually kills them.

Use Anywhere Safely

Purchased as a ready-mixed cereal type bait, a concentrate to be mixed with certain ground grains, or in a form to be mixed with water, warfarin will get results. It's an all-weather (except for the water soluble form, unsuitable for use in freezing temperatures), any-season rat and mouse killer, very safe when used

Home Life Basic In Child's Security

URBANA—A stable home life is one of the most important elements in helping a child develop security, says Marguerite Briggs, University of Illinois child development specialist.

Three regular meals a day, enough clothing to keep him comfortable and make him look like other children, and parents who are on the scene when needed are all part of a child's home life.

A child's security stems basically from his parents' security.

He needs loyal friends of all ages—other children and adults—who accept him as he is. He must feel that he has succeeded in a task, since severe or frequent failures create insecurity. He needs to be encouraged to develop the skills in which he has aptitudes and those which he will need as he grows.

Every child has a right to some privacy. Children like to collect things and often wish to withdraw from people.

To develop security, a child needs responsibilities. He should feel that he's a necessary part of the family and has certain tasks and privileges. Sharing in home tasks is important in developing this feeling. He and his parents need to agree about his responsibilities and then cooperate to carry them out.

Adults must guard against too high standards so that they won't discourage their children.

At the same time he has responsibilities, a child needs discipline. Knowing what he may and may not do, having an understanding of his responsibilities and gradually realizing that he assumes the consequences of his behavior develops security, says Miss Briggs.

This Week at

DIXON SPRINGS

University of Illinois Experiment Station

Illinois farmers are growing more and more sorghum each year on the acres that they take out of production of other crops because of the pressures of government programs and acreage allotments. Drought also has been a factor in increased sorghum production. Farmers looking for a feed grain that will grow during the summer have naturally turned to this crop, which has been used for years in the drier west and southwest regions. We are told that the recent introduction of better yielding hybrid sorghums will further speed the trend toward higher sorghum production.

To get the information for which you farmers are asking and in anticipation of a growing demand for this same information, George McKibben, Station crop researcher, this year set out an extensive sorghum trial. Following the sampling and summary, George will be able to offer suggestions on the best varieties for grain and for forage. He will have tips on planting and fertilizer rates. He will be able to give you comparative yields of corn and sorghums for both grain and forage.

Picking Corn

This week at Dixon Springs the corn harvest is in full swing, with the pickers hard on the heels of Wayne Mizell, Wayne Speck and Joe Harris, the yield sampling crew. These fellows are adding to our store of information on varieties, soil and water treatments and planting methods that will give the most economical returns.

Feeding Lambs

Over at the sheep barns, Jack Lewis and Norris Phelps have recently started several lots of lambs on self-fed fattening rations. These two lamb feeders know that a complete ration—hay and grain, ground, mixed and pelleted—will give them the safest and fastest gains. Now they are trying to find out whether a high level of hay in the ration will give results as good as or better than lower levels. Also they are attempting to measure the value of Sericea lespedeza hay compared with alfalfa hay in the fattening ration.

Lamb Pools

While speaking of lambs we are reminded to tell you that we have held five lamb marketing pools this summer on the Station. The sixth is coming up on November 2. The popularity of these pools is attested by the fact that over 2,000 woolies have been consigned in the five pools. We have been surprised by the numbers of sheep being produced on farms close to the Station.

However, when we examine lamb production on an animal-unit basis compared with cattle production, we find that cattle production is ahead. This conclusion is based on the fact that about 2,200 head of feeder cattle will be sold at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station on October 4 and 5. Assuming that the lamb pools and cattle sale numbers are both fairly representative of area production, the lamb pools would have to sell at least 10,000 to 11,000 lambs before we could say that sheep production is as important as cattle production on farms near the station.

BE CAREFUL WITH FIRE.

Mother Who Talks a Lot To Baby on Right Track

IOWA CITY — In helping a child to learn to talk, the good mother is one who seems to "bathe the infant in sound" as she cares for him, a University of Illinois psychologist says.

O. Hobart Mowrer, past president of the American Psychological Assn., cited research to the effect that words have to be pleasant for the child to want to hear and reproduce them.

The sound of mother's voice during most of the baby's waking hours is interpreted by the child as "everything's all right now."

Safety For Farm Children

It is a well-known fact that farm youngsters, and adults as well, enjoy the dangerous practice of playing and riding on tractors. Some parents even let their children operate the tractor.

It is also well known that tractors are associated with more accidents than any other farm machine.

Handling a tractor under most conditions requires mature skill, coordination and sound judgment which a child 12 years old or even older doesn't have, according to O. L. Hogsett, safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Of course, children vary a great deal in these capacities at certain ages, but youngsters are not allowed to drive automobiles in most states until they are 16 years of age.

Everyone has a stake in the welfare of our young people, but parents have a special concern. They are in the best position to judge whether or not their children are mature. Not some parents have failed to exercise good judgment in the matter either because of boastful pride in their children or because of a shortage of help.

It is the duty of everyone concerned to set a good example for children and cut out this needless killing of farm children.

Nitrate Fertilizer Is Poisonous To Livestock

Nitrate fertilizer makes corn grow tall, but it may harm livestock that eat it.

Dr. R. M. Thomas of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine points out that animals can accidentally take in toxic amounts of fertilizer.

This can happen if you use old fertilizer bags for feed bags, leave supplies of fertilizer where animals can eat them, mix fertilizer and feed on the same floor or apply fertilizer when a strong wind may carry poisonous amounts on to pastures where livestock are grazing.

Another possible source of nitrate poisoning is a residue of the chemical in crops grown under certain conditions on heavily fertilized fields. Some unpublished reports indicate that a deficiency of the trace element molybdenum may prevent corn from fully utilizing nitrates and cause amounts that are toxic to animals to remain in the plants. This aspect of nitrate poisoning is not yet clearly understood, and further research on it is under way.

Tests also indicate that very heavy applications of nitrates—400 pounds an acre a season—may produce crops containing nitrate residues. Oat hay and corn grown where fertilization was not especially heavy but weather conditions were very dry may contain dangerous amounts of nitrates.

Generally, young animals are much more susceptible to nitrate poisoning than older animals, but susceptibility varies considerably.

HIGH CORN—Gazing at a corn stalk that stands 13 feet high is Elmer Othick, who raised the corn on his farm three miles south of Winchester, Kan. About 25 acres of corn topped the 12-foot mark, with many stalks reaching up an extra foot. The plants were not fertilized, so "more than adequate" moisture is the explanation for the tall crop.

Alfalfa Responds Well to Soil Fertilizers

DIXON SPRINGS — Fertilized alfalfa at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station of the University of Illinois produced four times as much forage as alfalfa that was not fertilized.

Both stands of alfalfa were seeded in the fall of 1950 on land that had plenty of lime, phosphate and potash according to soil test, says L. E. Gard, crops specialist at the Station.

One plot was top-dressed every year with 300 pounds of 0-20-0 and 200 pounds of 0-0-60 an acre. The other plot was not given any fertilizer other than that already in the soil.

Gard reports yields of more than two tons of hay from the fertilized alfalfa during the fourth year compared with only one-half ton on the non-fertilized alfalfa. Fifth-year yield on the non-fertilized alfalfa dropped to one-fourth ton, while the fertilized stand was still usable for good pasture in the sixth year.

Gard says this experiment shows that alfalfa responds well to soil that tests very high for phosphate and potash.

Cost of top-dressing during the five years of the experiment was $44 an acre. The extra yield of hay more than paid for the cost of the fertilizer, Gard says.

Test Plots Produce 70-Bushel Wheat

URBANA—Wheat yields as high as 70 bushels on individual fields were produced this summer on 27 test-demonstration farms in six south central Illinois counties.

Starting in 1933, individual farmers have been keeping records in cooperation with the University of Illinois Extension Service to measure progress and results obtained by a balanced fertilization program and good management practices in this claypan area.

Object of the test-demonstration farms of that area, reports J. B. Cunningham, farm management extension specialist at the University of Illinois, who is in charge of the work.

"We are proud of the results on test-demonstration farms," explains Cunningham. "Almost every year is a new record for the farm and the neighborhood."

Some of the reports seem fantastic when we think of yields 20 years ago, he admits. Improved varieties, better fertilization and improved techniques have been responsible.

The test-demonstration farm program emphasizes total farm yield rather than yield for a few acres on the farm. Examples of high-yielding farms are Hancie Dunahee, Clay county, with 61 bushels on 36 acres; Charles Lynch, Edwards county, 65 bushels on 42 acres; William Renfro, Effingham county, 51 bushels on 15 acres; Ayers Buzzard, Fayette county, 56 bushels on 75 acres; Hopkins and Reeves, Marion county, 52 bushels on 42 acres; and Paul Buss, Richland county, 47 bushels on 43 acres.

Knox wheat predominated on the high-yielding fields, reports Cunningham. Only one cooperator grew Dual wheat, a new variety that produced 37 bushels an acre. Dual looks promising and there is a demand for the seed. Experience on the test-demonstration farms suggests this procedure if you want the same high wheat yields, advises Cunningham: select the best varieties; fertilize according to test, production goals and pocketbook; and follow good cultural practices.

Test demonstrators attribute their high yields to a balanced fertilization program and the use of such high-analysis fertilizer as 30-52-0, 0-62-0 and 33-0-0.

In general, they used from 100 to 160 pounds of 30-52-0 on land that had already had a building treatment of phosphorus. The demonstrators like high-analysis fertilizer because (1) it costs less per unit of plant food and (2) they have fewer pounds of material to lift per acre to get the desired results.

Slaughter Leads Yankee Hitters In Series Play

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees may be bloody after losing the first two games of the World Series, but you can always be sure that "old warhorse" Enos Slaughter is unwarmed.
The one-time Cardinal star, who now runs in left field for the Yankees like a young colt instead of a 40-year old grizzled veteran, has turned out to be the most troublesome hitter in the Yankee lineup with a .500 batting average on five hits in 10 at bats.
Only twice has Country been retired on routine chances; the other three were sizzling line drives that backed up the outfielders.
The United Press revealed Friday that Slaughter's share in the Series player pool depends on his showing in the Series — a half-share based on his short term of service with the Yankees or a full share based on excellent play here. But don't get the idea that money is the only thing spurring him on — old Country would be going all out the way if only safety pins were at stake.
"They'll say old Enos is smelling the money," said Slaughter. "But that's not the only thing. I have been playing better since coming to the Yankees from Kansas City. I think it gave me a lift."
Slaughter's play has been a revelation to the younger Yankees, but Enos still is upset about two catches he didn't make Friday. Brooklyn's Gil Hodges blasted a pair of doubles to his sector to drive in a total of four runs, and those two blows decided the game.
"I never really had a chance to get either one," Slaughter had to admit. "But as long as I'm up here I'll be trying. You can bet on that."
Slaughter has a good reason to be distracted as he plays in the Series, for he's concerned about the welfare of his wife who is expecting a baby "today or tomorrow." But you'd never guess there was anything on his mind when he's swinging that bat.
The disclosure that Slaughter's share depends on his play in the Series prompted a lecture by Manager Casey Stengel to the Yankee players before Friday's game. The subject was speaking to the press about such matters.

Unbeaten Eagles Rack Up No. 4 By Walloping Christopher, 32 to 0

Eldorado Coach Adams Uses All Players on Squad
The Eldorado Eagles remain unbeaten in the 1956 football campaign.
Friday night on their own gridiron Eldorado racked up victory number four, walloping Christopher, 32-0. The Eagles scored in each quarter and held a decided advantage in all departments of play.
Early in the third frame Eldorado Coach Adams began to substitute freely and by the time the game was over every one suited—both varsity and "B" team players—saw action.
Lester Fequay, Eldorado's candidate for southern Illinois scoring honors, crossed the goal line twice. Don Gwaltney gave the crowd a big thrill with a 70-yard punt return for a TD. Ben Dempsey sped 42 yards for a TD and late in the game Chuck McCallister, a sophomore, went on an 11-yard run for a TD.
Linemen Charge Hard
Again the Eagles came up with exceptional blocking and the hard-charging linemen broke through Christopher's defense time after time to throw the ball carrier for a loss or break up attempted passing.
Christopher's top runner was a little scabback named Williams who picked up some yardage on almost every try and once broke loose for an 18-yard gain.
Eldorado had 11 first downs and Christopher 6. Eldorado was penalized 15 yards to none for the visitors. Eldorado completed two passes, one fell incomplete and one was intercepted. Christopher completed one pass in four tries. From scrimmage the Eagles had a net gain of 277 yards, including 241 by

Newcombe Scuffles With Fan Over 'Choke Up' Remark

BROOKLYN (AP)—Nothing riles Don Newcombe more than to be charged with choking up.
So when he left the ball park Friday after being kayoed by the Yankees, who belted him for six runs, he became angry because a fan shouted "You choked up, you have no guts."
Newcombe, carrying a baseball bat, dropped it and ran toward the fan, daring him to repeat the remark.
Police, who witnessed the incident, said the two became involved in a scuffle when the fan, Michael Frank Brown, did repeat the remark. Brown was socked in the stomach and he complained to the police, who said they would take Newcombe to jail if charges were pressed.
An officer, Brown, and Newcombe went toward the police station in Newcombe's car. En route, Brown, a Dodger fan who is a refreshment stand attendant, agreed not to press charges. Both men said they had been hit under the collar and offered apologies.
Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said the matter was dropped at that stage, even though the officer involved filed a report to his precinct.

Locals Fade in Final Half As Rams Win Permanent Possession of Trophy

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who appeared to be arriving as a football team in the first half of their tilt at Mt. Vernon, faded like a two-bit sweater the final two frames and lost the deciding Shrine classic to the Rams, 31 to 14.
The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who appeared to be arriving as a football team in the first half of their tilt at Mt. Vernon, faded like a two-bit sweater the final two frames and lost the deciding Shrine classic to the Rams, 31 to 14.
Thus the Mt. Vernon school gained permanent possession of the fine trophy by taking the fifth and deciding game in the five-year series. The games were tied at two and two, with the Bull Dogs having won the last two contests, before last night's affair.
An enormous crowd was on hand for the event, which saw gaily colored Shriners all over the place and the Anad Temple Drum and Bugle Corps from East St. Louis performing at halftime. And the Bull Dogs added to the festivities by going to their dressing room at halftime with a 14 to 6 lead that looked pretty good.
But the third quarter was awful and the fourth wasn't much better, although the Bull Dogs did roll up four first downs in the last stanza. The Rams scored two touchdowns in the third quarter and two more in the fourth, making only two first downs while doing it.
Bull Dogs Take Lead
Harrisburg had a shaky start, fumbling both the opening kickoff but recovering in the 20, and on the first play from scrimmage, when the Rams recovered on the H-14. Two plays later from the 13 a pass, Pete Boussein to Mike McGannon, was good for a TD but the kick for point was no good and the score was 6-0.
After one exchange of plays Eddie Price recovered a MV fumble on the H-47 and the locals, aided by a 32-yard pass, Don Biggs to Bud Logan, went on to score. Zeigler went over from the 2 and Ronnie Vick's good placement gave the Bull Dogs a 7-6 lead.
There were no threats the second quarter until Harrisburg scored with three seconds left. Mt. Vernon tried to pass and Bill Yates intercepted the ball on the H-43, racing 57 yards down the sideline to score. Vick's kick was good and the locals led 14-6 as they went to the dressing room.
Things were different the third quarter. On the fourth play of the period Glenn Fleming raced 33 yards to score and later Mike McGannon, after 20 yards in penalties had put the ball back from near midfield to the MV-30 for

Hint Deal by Phils, Pirates, Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are being deluged with offers for slugger Frank Thomas and there is a strong possibility of a three-way deal involving the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants. It was learned on excellent authority today.
The deal is strictly in the talking stage right now and if it jells, here is what will happen:
1. Pittsburgh will send Thomas to the Phillies.
2. Philadelphia will send outfielder Del Ennis to the Giants.
3. The Giants, in turn, would trade left-handed pitcher Joe Magoneri and an infielder to the Pirates.

Typical Newsboy Visits President

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Andy Williams, a 14-year-old Iowa newspaperboy, had a "friendly chat" with President Eisenhower today as part of the observance of National Newspaperboy Day.

Andy emerged from the White House meeting with two "Ike" buttons, a pair of "Ike" pencils, an 1890 silver dollar, and a six-inch steel ruler. The ruler is for him to use when he becomes a surveyor, which he told the President he wants to be.

Andy said he told Mr. Eisenhower he was "out there rooting for him" when the President made a recent campaign trip to Iowa.

Andy has been delivering the Ames (Iowa) Tribune for two years. He was chosen the "typical American newspaperboy" for collecting money from subscribers for the Crusade for Freedom, which supports Radio Free Europe.

National Newspaperboy Day honors the 500,000 boys who get up or come home in the dark to deliver newspapers to 25 million American homes.

Sentence Last Ringleader in '52 Menard Riot

CHESTER, Ill. (U.P.) — The last of the ringleaders of the 1952 riot at Menard State Prison has been sentenced in Randolph County Circuit Court here.

Harley Butler, 40, Rosiclare, after a guilty plea was sentenced to terms of two years each on two charges of kidnapping by Judge J. E. Fleming. The terms will run concurrently.

Butler and six other inmates were charged with holding seven guards as hostages for two days in the north cell house of the prison during the riot.

Butler, who was transferred to Joliet in 1953, is serving a one year to life sentence on a charge of burglary and larceny.

He was returned to Menard for his court appearance. Warden Ross Randolph says Butler will be returned to Joliet.

West Frankfort Wins Cross Country Meet Held at Galatia

Galatia took individual honors but West Frankfort captured the team victory in a cross country meet held Friday afternoon at Galatia.

West Frankfort won by a score of 26-30 and it marked the third consecutive win for the WF cross country team coached by Elmo Richey.

Leading the pack across the finish line in the two-mile cross country event was Ken Cockrum of Galatia in 10:50. Other finishers for the John Cherry-coached Galatia team were Raymond Griffin fifth, Don Wickham sixth, Gene McFarland seventh and Bud Hankins eleventh.

West Frankfort finishers were Tom Baine second, Alan Gelco third, Vello Zavich fourth, Chuck Blake eighth and Lewis Gilmore ninth. A WF runner also finished tenth, but points are scored only for the first five finishers on each team.

Ike Charges H-Confusion By Stevenson

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower today wound up for the second part of a one-two punch against Adlai Stevenson's draft and H-bomb proposals.

The President Friday night accused the Democratic presidential nominee of creating confusion by proposing the halting of U. S. H-bomb tests.

Moreover, the President said banning the tests might enable Russia to nullify "our present commanding lead in the field of nuclear weapons."

The White House issued Mr. Eisenhower's statement, elaborating a stand he took only a few hours earlier at a news conference. Mr. Eisenhower was scheduled to issue another statement sometime today attacking Stevenson's proposal that the need for continuing the draft be reviewed.

Regrets Injection Of Issue

The President expressed regret in his H-bomb statement that the issue was injected into the election campaign.

"The proposals clearly take no account of what would be the result of stopping our tests," he said. "Tests of large weapons, by any nation, may be detected when they occur."

"But any such test follows many months of research and preparation. This means that elaborate tests could be prepared by any nation without knowledge."

"By the time we had such knowledge, our present commanding lead in the field of nuclear weapons could be reduced or even overtaken."

Fears Weakened Power

"Thus our power to guard the peace would be weakened."

Mr. Eisenhower said he was speaking in his role of "president, charged with responsibility for the defense and security of our nation."

He said he never would sanction any curtailment of U. S. atomic power unless Russia agrees to a foolproof system of international safeguards.

Move to Cite U. of Alabama Officials

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U.P.) — Attorneys for ousted Negro coed Atherine Lucy Foster have moved to cite University of Alabama officials for contempt of court for expelling her last February.

Negro attorney Arthur Shores asked U. S. District Judge Hobart Grooms Friday to revoke the expulsion order and any other order "designed to bar" her from the campus.

The university has been all-white for 125 years except for Mrs. Foster's riotous three days on the campus early this year.

He suggested that more publicity be given to the natural beauty found in our state parks, such as Dixon Springs, Fort Massac, Cave-in-Rock, Giant City and other places. Proper markings of state parks at the preceding and entrances should be made and on the highways leading to the parks.

The tourist, he stated, is often unaware of nearby historic and scenic spots until he has bypassed them. Much financial good could result from this and also from the provisions for more tourists living in the area during a vacation or an extended stay.

Sen. Jones commended William Farley and Louis Aaron for their part in already striving to achieve the goals he had set forth in his address.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Ray Altmire, Mrs. Don Scott, Mrs. James Bond and Mrs. Naomi Loos.

National Letter Writing Week October 7 to 13

National Letter Writing Week will again be celebrated during the week October 7 to 13, Postmaster A. M. Hetherington announced today.

Commenting on the significance of National Letter Writing Week, he pointed out that each year since 1938 this event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter.

Emphasizing the traditional sanctity of the letter mail, Mr. Hetherington reminded residents that one of the basic American Freedoms is the uncensored transmission of their first class mail. It is the most valuable possession of the citizens of a free country.

"We all know the human importance of letter writing, the way in which it holds scattered families together, of giving comfort and love and news to all the people of the land. But its value is immeasurably greater than that. Its implications are almost infinite," Mr. Hetherington stated.

"We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I urge all citizens of Harrisburg to join me in this national celebration. Let's make National Letter Writing Week for 1956 the greatest ever," he said.

Singer Faces Court Actions By Two Ex-Wives

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.) — Singer Dick Haymes today faced bench warrants for his arrest in contempt of court actions filed by two of his four former wives.

For the second time in two days Friday, one of the 38-year-old crooner's ex-spouses filed a court action against Haymes.

Actress Joanne Dru, wife No. 2, charged that the singer was $4,478 in arrears in support payments to their three children. Miss Dru, now the wife of actor John Ireland, said that Haymes could pay but had fallen behind.

The day before Nora Eddington Haymes, the Argentine-born singer's third wife, accused Haymes of being $12,150 behind in alimony payments to her.

Lawyers said it would be difficult to serve the bench warrants as long as Haymes remains out of California. He has a television show in New York.

JoAnn Marshall was Haymes' first wife. His fourth was actress Rita Hayworth. They were divorced last Dec. 13 in Reno, Nev.
